

{d.address_line_1}
{d.address_line_2}
{d.address_line_3}
{d.address_line_4}
{d.address_line_5}
{d.address_line_6}
{d.address_line_7}

Invitation to Take Part in a Health Research Study

We are writing to invite you to take part in an important health research study being conducted by the NHS in partnership with Acme University.

The study aims to better understand how lifestyle factors affect long-term heart health. You have been selected as someone who may be eligible to take part based on your age and local GP record.

Taking part in this study could help improve future NHS care and contribute to discoveries that benefit people across the country. The study has been carefully reviewed and approved by an independent ethics committee to ensure it is safe and appropriate for participants.

Participation is entirely voluntary, and all information you provide will be kept strictly confidential. If you choose to take part, you will receive more details about what the study involves and have the opportunity to ask any questions.

If you are interested or would like to learn more, please contact our research team:
research@nhs.net

You can also visit www.nhs.uk/studies for further information.

Thank you for considering this opportunity to contribute to vital NHS research.

Yours sincerely,
Sally Davies
Director
NHS Health Studies